Underlying optimism: Everyone suffers sometime from bereavement, and some losses are especially difficult to bear. But if we hope in the resurrection we should not grieve like others who have no hope. The underlying optimism shining through today's text from the book of Wisdom is given a personal focus by St Paul, who says that all we have lost will be restored when Jesus returns in glory. The gospel adds that we must be ready to welcome him.

OLMS; Many thanks to those who organised, helped and attended the Quiz Night on 16th October in Chipperfield. Also thanks to those who donated raffle prizes. It was a very enjoyable and successful evening with a delicious hot supper and £653.20 was raised to support the Chingulungulu parish in Tanzania. The winner was also announced that evening of the separate fundraiser where people were asked to guess the total amount of £1.00, 50p and 20p coins in 3 jars. This raised a further £200 for the Chingulungulu parish so again a big thank you to the organisers and all those who took part.
