THOUGHT OF THE WEEK- Source of our best impulses

For the earliest Christians, the Spirit sent by Jesus was a vital source of energy and missionary spirit. They never forgot his first coming. Beforehand, they were timid and afraid, like children huddling in an attic. When the Spirit came over them in a whooshing of wind, fire and speech, they were transformed, "filled with the Holy Spirit" (Acts 2:4), suddenly, mysteriously, eloquent. Some bystanders were less poetic in their reaction and sneered, "They're drunk" (Acts 2:13). In a sense they were right, for drunk they were, spiritually, intoxicated with the Spirit of Christ's love and eagerness to proclaim his message. The Spirit was breathing among them, and from now on the prayer "Jesus is Lord" would be their motto. Have a spirit filled celebration.

WORLD COMMUNICATIONS SUNDAY-Second Collection at all the Masses

On World Communications Day (which was last week), we take up the command of Jesus to preach the Good News of the Gospel to the whole world. The Pope's message for the 57th World Communications Day follows the theme speaking with the heart. "The truth in love" (Eph. 4:15). "The call to speak with the heart," he says, "radically challenges the times in which we are living, which are so inclined towards indifference and indignation, at times even on the basis of disinformation which falsifies and exploits the truth."
