33RD SUNDAY IN
ORDINARY TIMEMake good on the Master's Investment.

Our Lord Jesus paid a heavy price for us. Why? He shed his blood which redeemed us. Let's take a moment by re-reading the Gospel to avoid displeasing the Master, who loved his servants, and the servants whom he redeemed, and made free. He not only grants liberty, but he also confers brotherhood and he even promises an inheritance.

Can there be more we want? By his coming, he took up our death, by rising he gave us his life. What else do we want? Jesus who was crucified for us, by his resurrection has raised us above the heavens. He made us sons and daughters of God. Do we still want more? What will we give our Lord for what he has given us? recall, before we existed he formed us in our mother's womb, he gave us life and gave us free will, gave us goods, gave us talent, gave us reason, gave us knowledge, gave us his creation that it might be looked after. Sadly, we have used these things badly and grown proud and conceited, and we have offended our Creator, who gave us all these freely. We went astray, he found us; we were captive, he helped us; we were led to never-ending death, he freed us. Our Lord, who willingly went to his death for us, could he present us with anything less? So, what shall we give him in return? If there is nothing we can return to him, perhaps we receive from him what we offer him.

What our Lord asks from us is what he says to us: 'No one, has greater love than this, to lay down one's life for one's friends. You are my friends if you do what I command you' ( Jon 15: 13-14). We are not to fear death, for, you are unable to conquer it, I died for you so that you might overcome it not by yourselves but through me. Indeed I died not for me but for you, you know that you will die, [but] you didn't know that you would rise. I showed you death, which you hadn't known about; I showed you the resurrection, which you hadn't known about.

Let us believe in our Risen Lord that through him we may also rise.

Matthew 25: 14-30

Talents in the Gospel refer to the coin, not qualities one might have. The Landowner represents God, who has entrusted his most precious property to us, his own Son given to us through his word and the sacraments. In Baptism we became his children and we receive Him in the Blessed Sacrament; He forgives us our sins in the sacrament of reconciliation. Having received these gifts how do we live out our lives?

Consider how we use the gifts given to us by God, especially those present in the sacraments.

Fr.F Javier Ruiz-Ortiz

““Hope does not disappoint” (Rom 5:5), Paul told us. Hope draws us and gives meaning to our life. I do not see the afterlife, but hope is God’s gift that draws us toward life, toward eternal joy. Hope is an anchor that we have from the other side, and we, grasping the rope, sustain ourselves (cf. Heb 6:18-19). ‘I know that my Redeemer lives, and I shall see him’. And repeat this in times of joy and in bad times, in times of death, let us say this. This certitude is a gift of God, because we can never have hope by our own efforts. We must ask for it. Hope is a freely given gift that we never deserve: it is given; it is offered. It is grace.”
