Dear Friends,

As I announced last weekend, I shall be retiring as Parish Priest of Pinner at the end of August. Before being appointed to Pinner in January 2021 I had worked as Private Secretary to the Apostolic Nuncio for seventeen and a half years, so I had not been a parish priest since July 2003.

In 2020, when I was asked to return to the Diocese, and before I knew where I was to be assigned, I wrote to the then Archbishop, Cardinal Nichols, and told him that I really didn't want to be a parish priest again. What I had hoped to do at that time was to give cover to my brother priests. Cover that, as I have discovered, is not easily available to find for any longer periods of time.

I really didn't want to have to be responsible for all the administrative side that, even with excellent support, my brother priests had told me was oppressive. However, in 2020 I was only 64 and I realised that I would have little freedom in the matter. I did at that time explain to the Cardinal that I was prepared to serve as a parish priest until I was 70 but not for longer.

I have enjoyed my years here very much and I thank you all for your patience and kindness. When I ceased being parish priest of Kensington, my previous parish in 2003, things were very different, because of changes in civil legislation, charity law and the way the diocese is now controlled. Having spoken again to the Cardinal last year and then to Archbishop Richard, he has kindly agreed to allow me to retire as Parish Priest of Pinner towards the end of August this year.

It was announced on Tuesday that the new Parish Priest of Pinner will be Father Tony Thomas, at present Parish Priest of Neasden and Stonebridge. He is about 54 and was ordained in 2016. I have no doubt that you will make him feel as welcome as you have made me. Perhaps, once he has settled in and found his feet, I may be able to cover for him if he needs to take a break. I also hope to help out locally from time to time. As my home is only in South Harrow, God willing, we may be able to keep in touch.

So please keep me in your prayers and I can assure you that you will remain in mine.

Yours sincerely in the Lord. Vincent Brady

Our Remembrance Book can be found at the back of the Church near the Lady Altar. In this book, we remember all those, whose ashes have been interred in our Memorial Garden. Each month the pages are turned and a list of names for that month are shown. This month we especially remember:

Jack Craigie-Williams, Carlo Perrotta, Gerry Williams, Joan McManus, and
Pat Diamond.
May they rest in peace
