May We Love as God Loves

Jesus in the Gospel wants us to be stopped in our tracks and transformed regarding the infinite extent to which God loves. He wants us to live in this love, for God to dwell within us, for God is love. One of the pivotal examples that our Lord gives us relates to the sun: "for he causes his sun to rise on bad men as well as good" (Mt 5:45). The sun does not choose on what or whom it shines, it just shines, it illuminates. And so it is with God: They do not love some of us more than others. God is not taken hostage by our foibles, ideas, and bargains; but seeks to transform us, we who have been made in Their image and likeness. This is why in Leviticus, the Lord says to Moses, "be holy, for I, the Lord your God, am holy" (Lev 19:2), and Jesus in the Gospel says, "you must therefore be perfect just as your heavenly Father is perfect" (Mt 4:48). Saint Paul teaches that we Christians are especially close to the love of God, for we have received the Holy Spirit explicitly in the Sacraments: we are the temple of God (1 Cor 3:17).

There is a story of the then Mother Teresa giving an example of the indiscriminate and indefatigable love of God. Whilst looking for food for the poor, she approached a man who appeared to be materially fortunate, and asked for some help. He spat in her face. With grace and gratitude she, wiping the spit from her face, thanked him for his gift to her and her sisters, and then asked whether he could still spare something for the poor. Her peaceful response, her forgiveness, her radiant example of offering the other cheek disarmed the bitterness and anger of the man. The man, like so many of those healed by Jesus, our Lord, was never the same again.

Jesus is inviting each of us to live this holiness, this perfection, this love, for this is Who God are, and we are called to be perfect and holy, like our heavenly Father. This is what Jesus wills for each of us. The love of God, which is necessary for our divinisation, for our preparation for heaven, does not foundationally teach us to embrace 'fight or flight', but is there to change, heal, bring transformation to us and to all whom we encounter. This Lent the Lord calls each of us to a deeper and necessary intensification of prayer, fasting, and alms giving. Let us live integrated lives and so bring God's love to all. Fr Ben
