Looking Forward to Christmas

The next Seniors' coffee morning will be on Wednesday 13 December and will take the form of a Seniors' pre-Christmas party.

There will be tea and coffee after the 11am Mass on Sunday 3 December.

We are planning to have a Carol Concert on Wednesday 20 December at 7.30pm followed by a gathering in the parish hall. More details to follow closer to the time.

Saturday 9 December we will put up Christmas decorations in the parish hall in preparation for the Seniors' Christmas event and the Carol Service. If you can spare even a little time to help in any way, it would be a great help.

Saturday 16 December we will decorate the Christmas tree and the Narthex after the 10am Mass, again it would be great to have some volunteers to help with that.

A card with the times of Masses at Christmas has been printed and will be available soon. It may be helpful for advanced planning to know already that on Sunday 24th December (4th Sunday of Advent) Mass will be at 9.30am and 11.00am. In the evening the 6pm Mass will be the Vigil Mass of Christmas, the Mass during the Night will be at 10pm. The Christmas Day Mass will be at 11am.

November List of the Deceased

On All Souls's Day 2 November, we prayed for all the Faithful Departed in a special way. Nevertheless, during the whole month it is customary to offer many Masses and prayers for those souls undergoing final purification.

Envelopes are available for parishioners to write a list of those whom they would like to be remembered, together, if you wish, with an offering.

Please do not leave these envelopes in the church but hand them in at the presbytery, or to one of the priests. Once any money has been removed and recorded the envelopes are placed in a basket near the altar when Mass is celebrated.

Masses will be celebrated for those on the November List of the Deceased, especially during the month of November and over the coming year. The Mass intention will be announced as being for the Holy Souls.

Area for young children during Sunday Mass

If you are new to the parish it may help to know that during the 9.30am and 11am Masses on Sundays we generally open the parish hall and project a view of the sanctuary onto the screen in the seminar room (top floor). This enables parents with small children who become restless to follow the Mass from there if they so wish.

Collections

During the pandemic it was not possible to pass the collection basket around the church during the Offertory. Since then the congregation's offerings for the parish was collected as people left at the end of Mass. We have now returned to the practice of taking a collection during the Offertory. You can place cash and the offertory envelopes in the collection basket when it is passed around. If you give via the card reader, just pass the basket on and remember to give your donation via the card reader in the Narthex.

Some more considerations about the Last Things

During November, it is customary to consider the so-called Last Things. Last week I included some paragraphs from the Encyclical Spe Salvi by Pope Benedict XVI about purgatory. This week I offer some of his considerations about heaven and eternal life.

No. 10 I would like to begin with the classical form of the dialogue with which the rite of Baptism expressed the reception of an infant into the community of believers and the infant's rebirth in Christ. First of all the priest asked what name the parents had chosen for the child, and then he continued with the question: "What do you ask of the Church?" Answer: "Faith". "And what does faith give you?" "Eternal life". According to this dialogue, the parents were seeking access to the faith for their child, communion with believers, because they saw in faith the key to "eternal life". Today as in the past, this is what being baptised, becoming Christians, is all about: it is not just an act of socialisation within the community, not simply a welcome into the Church. The parents expect more for the one to be baptised: they expect that faith, which includes the corporeal nature of the Church and her sacraments, will give life to their child—eternal life. Faith is the substance of hope.

No. 12 (...) In some way we want life itself, true life, untouched even by death; yet at the same time we do not know the thing towards which we feel driven. We cannot stop reaching out for it, and yet we know that all we can experience or accomplish is not what we yearn for. This unknown "thing" is the true "hope" which drives us, and at the same time the fact that it is unknown is the cause of all forms of despair and also of all efforts, whether positive or destructive, directed towards worldly authenticity and human authenticity. The term "eternal life" is intended to give a name to this known "unknown". Inevitably it is an inadequate term that creates confusion. "Eternal", in fact, suggests to us the idea of something interminable, and this frightens us; "life" makes us think of the life that we know and love and do not want to lose, even though very often it brings more toil than satisfaction, so that while on the one hand we desire it, on the other hand we do not want it. To imagine ourselves outside the temporality that imprisons us and in some way to sense that eternity is not an unending succession of days in the calendar, but something more like the supreme moment of satisfaction, in which totality embraces us and we embrace totality—this we can only attempt. It would be like plunging into the ocean of infinite love, a moment in which time—the before and after—no longer exists. We can only attempt to grasp the idea that such a moment is life in the full sense, a plunging ever anew into the vastness of being, in which we are simply overwhelmed with joy. This is how Jesus expresses it in Saint John's Gospel: "I will see you again and your hearts will rejoice, and no one will take your joy from you" (16:22). We must think along these lines if we want to understand the object of Christian hope, to understand what it is that our faith, our being with Christ, leads us to expect.
