YEAR B 2021

Allowing God to be God – even outside the group we belong to

We have very interesting readings for the Liturgy this Sunday. The first reading from the book of Numbers portrays the reception of the spirit of the Lord that allows the 72 elected people from Israel to prophecy in the name of the Lord and help Moses governing of the people of Israel. But there were two other men who received the gift of prophecy, though there were not in the Tent of Meeting with Moses, Eldad and Medad. Joshua, Moses aid, asked Moses to stop them, because they were not present in the Tent of Meeting. However, Moses answer to his reproach is magnanimous as he said, 'if only all the people of Israel were prophets and had the spirit of God'. In this way Moses recognises that the action and the presence of the Lord is not limited to the formal structure. Similarly, the Gospel presents a situation of "envy" from the closed circle of disciples of Jesus, when they saw a man casting out devils in the name of Jesus. Jesus, as Moses, discerns well the action and the will of God by telling them to not stop him. These two parallel stories shows that the revelation of the presence of God and his salvific action cannot be confined to an elite group or just within the formal structure of an institution or ritual acts such as the Sacraments of the Church alone, as the Catechism of the Catholic Church teaches, God has bound salvation to the sacrament of Baptism, but he himself is not bound by his sacraments.<sup>1257</sup>

Some people can be intransigent in their believe and unwittingly exclude people from the grace of salvation from God by their intransigent behaviour and preaching that is punitive and condemnatory because they claim exclusivity of salvation to their own religious group or church. This is the case of the reaction of the disciples of Jesus and Joshua who are envious of seeing how other people outside their own circle or group are blessed with gifts from God and do better than them. To conclude, we could ask ourselves a basic question: what is our attitude towards people who are outside the visible confines of the Church? These people could include those we so pejoratively refer to as "the pagans, the irreligious, the Protestants, and even the un-churched". Let us remind ourselves of what the Catholic Church itself has said in this regard:

"Since Christ died for all men, and since the ultimate vocation of man is in fact one, and divine, we ought to believe that the Holy Spirit in a manner known only to God offers to every man the possibility of being associated with this paschal mystery" (Gaudium et Spes, no.22). What we can meaningfully do is to keep sharing our own experience of God with others and pray that God may continue to reveal and act in people's lives. The book of the Acts of Apostles says, "God is not one to show partiality, but in every nation the man who fears him and does what is right, is welcome to him" (Acts 10: 34-35).

PARISH NEWS

APPEAL TO PARISHIONERS WHO ATTEND SUNDAY 11AM MASS

We have recently started the counting of people at Sunday Masses and notice that more people are attending since September. However, the major attendance is concentrated at the 11am Mass. This has been quite stressful for everyone, especially for our stewards who struggle and at times receive abuse at the door as people try to make their way into the church at the last minute or late for Mass. We totally understand that this is the preferred Mass for many because it is convenient, but we invite everyone to be considerate and try to attend the earlier Mass at 9am or Saturday Vigil 7pm where there are more spaces and less people attending these Masses. Thank you very much for your understanding and collaboration.

PRAYER AND LIFE WORKSHOP 2021

We warmly invite you to take part in the Workshops from the Capuchin Priest, Fr. Ignacio Larranaga. Learn to establish an intimate relationship with Our Lord Jesus Christ through Bible readings, Doctrinal messages and the practice of 15 Methods of Prayer during a period of 15 weeks with only 2-hour weekly meetings. We will resume The Workshop that was suspended last year from October Tuesday 5th at 7pm in the Parish Hall. Please contact the Parish Office to enrol for this workshop.
