Letter from Langdon Street

My dear people

Today we celebrate the martyrdom of Saints Peter and Paul who guided the early church just after the time of Jesus. Both died as martyrs for the faith in the early 60's, just thirty years after the death of Jesus. According to tradition St Peter was crucified upside down in the Circus Maximus, a great arena on the site of the present St Peter's Square. He was buried nearby in the cemetery which lies beneath St Peter's Basilica. During the time of Pope Pius XII excavations were carried out and what is believed to be the tomb of St Peter was found. For many centuries it was believed that both saints were martyred on the same day but historians now believe St Paul lived for a few years after St Peter's death. He was taken outside the city of Rome to a place called Tre Fontana (three fountains) and the Basilica of St Paul's Outside the Walls was built. During the time of Pope Benedict XVI excavations discovered what is now believed to be his tomb.

Before St Peter arrived in Rome there were already communities of Christians each with its own leader or bishop. However St Peter is always known as the first Bishop of Rome. He and St Paul are together honoured as the joint founders of the Church in Rome and they share one feast day together. Whenever you see statues of Peter and Paul, usually Peter is holding the keys of the kingdom, symbolizing his duty as head of the church, and Paul is holding either the Bible, symbolizing his preaching or a sword symbolising his death by the sword. As a citizen of Rome he was entitled to an honourable death by the sword rather than crucifixion.

It is through the witness of St Paul that we know much about the growth of the early Church. In his second letter to the Corinthians he tells us something of the difficulties in his preaching journeys: "Five times I have been given the thirty-nine lashes by the Jews; three times I have been beaten with sticks; once I was stoned; three times I have been shipwrecked, and once I have been in the open sea for a day and a night; I have worked with unsparing energy, for many nights without sleep; I have been hungry and thirsty, and often altogether without food or drink; I have been cold and lacked clothing." In the Acts of the Apostles three missionary journeys are recorded but there may have been other journeys. In one of his epistles he talks about going to the very ends of the world, perhaps the Atlantic coast of Spain, or France or even Britain.

It is interesting to note the personalities of both Peter and Paul. Peter was impetuous, telling Jesus that he would die with him on the night of the Last Supper if necessary but later that night he denied that he knew him. We also remember Peter's objection to Jesus' prediction that he would suffer and die in Jerusalem and Jesus said 'Get behind me Satan because they way you think is man's way and not God's way.' Yet what made Peter a suitable candidate for Jesus' call was his love, so three times Jesus asked him if he loved him and asked him to look after the flock. Paul too was a controversial character in his own way. He had a fiery personality. In his early life he channelled that fire towards persecuting the Christians in Jerusalem, even witnessing the death of Stephen, the first martyr for Jesus. After his conversion Paul used preaching to proclaim in a sometimes fiery manner his belief in Jesus as the Messiah and as the Son of God. As we look at the personalities of Peter and Paul, we see that God called them to use their personalities to spread the Gospel, Peter used his impetuous love to look after the flock, and Paul used his training as a Pharisee and his strength of character to ensure that the non-Jews would be welcomed into the church.

It is a reminder to us that our talents and our weaknesses too can become God's means of helping others. We don't have to be perfect for God to work through us, God can work through us, faults and all, as he did with Peter and Paul.

Yours sincerely

Parish Priest
