Well, my friend, we live in troubled and sad times, and we must pray the infinite and merciful Lord to bear patiently with the sins of this world, which are very great. We must humble our hearts in silence and poverty of spirit and listen to His commands which come from the depths of His love, and work that…hearts may be converted to the ways of love and justice, not of blood, murder lust and greed. I am afraid that the big powerful countries are a very bad example to the rest of the world in this respect.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:
So I say to you, seek God and discover Him and make Him a power in your life. Without Him all our efforts turn to ashes and our sunrises to darkest nights – Martin Luther King 1929-1968

Because in the school of the Spirit, man learns wisdom through humility, knowledge by forgetting how to speak by silence, how to live by dying.

A good meditation even when it is interrupted by occasional nodding, is much more beneficial than many outward religious exercises - Johannes Tauler 14th Century German Dominican Mystic

The Master said, One who has accumulated moral power will certainly also possess eloquence; but he who has eloquence does not necessarily possess moral power. A good man will certainly also possess courage but a brave man is not necessarily Good

The master said, those who are capable of spending a whole day together without ever once discussing questions of right and wrong, but who content themselves with performing petty acts of clemency, are indeed few. – Confucius 551-471BC
