

Pastoral care

We are committed to helping and supporting you through this process. Here are some of the ways that we might be able to support you:

- Pastoral Support from the diocese:

Your safeguarding coordinator can offer you time and space in which to speak and tell your story. Full confidentiality cannot be promised, particularly if there are ongoing risks to you. If information needs to be shared with others, we will explain to you who it will be shared with, why and how it will be kept secure.

- Support during the investigation of your case:

You will be given the contact details of a person whose role it is to keep you updated.

HURT BY ABUSE?

Break
the silence.

Disclose
the secret.

A guide for victims and survivors.

Speaking Out

Speaking out about abuse is a key step towards healing and recovery.

You are not to blame for what happened to you.

You are the victim.

We want to offer you the opportunity to be listened to and to have your concerns taken seriously.

BREAK THE SILENCE

Whilst growing up victims learned: Don't talk. Don't trust. Don't feel.

There may be many reasons why you have not spoken out before:

- fear of your concerns not being taken seriously.
- afraid you would not be believed.
- felt it may cause problems for your family
- felt ashamed.
- were afraid you would be blamed.
- felt it may damage your relationships in the church community.

For someone who has been abused, the prospect of breaking the silence, perhaps after many years of secrecy, is very frightening. We want to help and support you.

Deciding how and why to speak out is a personal matter, whatever your reasons we want you to be heard, taken seriously and be supported.
